DETAILED ACTION

1. Amendment filed 12/30/8 has been entered. Claims 37, 42-43, 47 and 52-55 are pending in the application and are examined below. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered and are addressed below:

Drawings

2. The drawings for Figure 7 filed 12/30/08 is approved by the Examiner.
3. The amendment filed 7/2/08 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows:
- 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 53 and 55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The amended claim incorporates new matter, "isolated polypeptide comprising amino acids 28-342 of SEQ ID NO:4 or comprising an amino acid sequence having at least 95% identity with amino acids 28-342 of SEQ ID NO:4". Said new matter is not supported by the original disclosure.

(1) The specification does not teach an isolated polypeptide that consists of residues 28-342 of SEQ ID NO: 4.

(2) The specification does not teach derivatives of an IL-13 receptor α -chain that comprises residues 28-342 of SEQ ID NO: 4.

Applicants' arguments filed 12/30/08 and the Declaration of Angel Lopez have been fully considered but they are not found persuasive.

In the response, Applicants and the Declaration of Angel Lopez argue that the amended claim is fully supported by the specification and does not introduce new matter. Applicants argue that amino acids 28-342 of SEQ ID NO: 4 is based on the alignment between the human and murine sequences and on the disclosure of a murine soluble form composed of amino acids 27-340 of SEQ ID NO: 2.

Applicants' arguments and the Declaration of Angel Lopez have been fully considered but are not found persuasive. The specification does not teach that a derivative consisting of residues 28-342 of SEQ ID NO: 4 (human sequence) is part of the claimed invention. Furthermore, the specification does not even teach that a derivative consisting of the corresponding residues (27-340) of the mouse sequence (SEQ ID NO: 2) is part of the claimed invention. The specification teaches that the invention includes nucleic acids encoding a part of SEQ ID NO: 2 (pg 4) or SEQ ID NO: 4 (pg 5), but does not point to any particular part of either sequence on these pages. The specification further teaches that a recombinant IL-13 receptor α -chain may be in soluble form, but does not teach any specific residues for this soluble form. The skilled artisan would recognize that a "soluble form" is a genus that includes any variant of SEQ ID NO: 4 that is mutated to render the protein soluble (such as by deleting all or part of the transmembrane domain), and thus does not refer to any specific sequence. Example 12 provides a single example of a soluble receptor derived from SEQ ID NO: 2 that is "[t]he mature extracellular part of the NR4 coding region (Thr27 to Thr344)". While this specific example may provide support for a derivative consisting of the exact corresponding residues of the human sequence (Thr28-Thr346), it does not provide support for either a slightly shorter form of the murine (residues 27-340 of SEQ ID NO: 2) or the corresponding human (28-342 of SEQ ID NO: 4) sequences. There is nothing in the specification directing the skilled artisan to these slightly shorter sequences. The specification does not contain any teachings indicating that a derivative consisting of the specific residues corresponding to the isolated extracellular domain of either protein is part of the invention. The only teaching in the specification regarding the use of the extracellular domain of the protein is the specific example in Example 12.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

5. Claims 37, 42, 43, 47, 52 and 54 are allowable
6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
